USER INSTRUCTIONS

Our Planta boxes are built to support both live and artificial plants.

If you plan to add live plants to your Planta, care must be taken when watering to ensure water is contained to the closed pots.

Watering is super easy. You simply pour directly into the spout, which feeds directly into the irrigation module base. The base provides a reservoir for your plants to draw from, whilst preserving full root aeration for optimal growth and preventing root rot. The spout also helps regulate the amount of water available to your plants.

This is the correct way to water your plants and guarantees that all moisture is kept contained within the pot and away from the Planta box. Freely watering your plants outside of the spout is not advised as possible spillage may occur, leading to water damage to your Planta unit - please ensure facility managers and space users are aware of this and only use the spout to prevent the voiding of your Planta unit warranty.
